HERE has been, in the Course of the Mentions of the two Armies, several famous Skirmishes, wherein the Austrian Light Troops have generally had the better. On the 22d Instant it proved otherwise: a Detachment from the Left of the French Army, under M. de Modiere, being issued by the Austrian Masters lying at Winiegben, marched to attack them. The Austrians drew up in the open Field, and stood their Ground: Mandiere's Troop march'd towards them with part of his Dragoon's, and order'd the other Part to make Possession of the Village, which being obtain'd, the Austrians, who hading themselves on the other Side, retreated again by the French, and to prevent being surrounded, rode off again on the Day; with the Loss of about 20 Men.

Count d'Arceve led the same Day detached from his Body of Mousquetairs, 100 Men, and M. Grafin being out with the main Body of the Army, the two French Parties met, and engag'd each other, and some Mischief was done before the Mistake was discovered, by which Means a Party of Hussars, whom both were in Pursuit of, got the best of,
and took both of two Men.

When they appear'd, they appear'd a kind of Mischief was done before the Mistake was discovered, by which Means a Party of Hussars,
whom both were in Pursuit of, got the best of,
and took both of two Men.

Troops shall not pass the Rhine in the same Limits pens, and by this it evidently appears which Side we to attack any Part of Alliance or the French Terri-
