

Berne July 31.

Yesterday we left Interlaken at 6 a.m. and proceeded per steamer to Thun, where we remained during the middle of the day, and in the afternoon proceeded to Berne, where we walked about till dark.

The pension at Interlaken was 8 francs per day, everything included which is very moderate indeed.

Berne I like very much but not the German of which neither Ayer or I can make head or tail.

This afternoon we proceed to Fribourg, next day to Bulle and then to Nevev.
You may now address to me Poste Restante Nevev, for if I don't actually stop at Nevev itself, it will at all events be not far off - perhaps Montreux
or some of those places.

Francis E. Prendergast